Make hope visible

This month's collection of inspiring stories of hope and healing through Answered Prayers.

Premature baby recovered

#26318

At church a good friend and church member shared her sorrow. A close friend of hers had had a baby at only 26 weeks gestation. The baby was in special care and struggling to survive. It did not look as though it would survive. I prayed with her, asking God for life for this baby. My friend sent me a text later in the day to say that the baby saw an immediate recovery as we prayed.

Legs healed

#26299

I got covid in 2022 and it turned into long covid, having triggered an underlying health condition. I ended up in a wheelchair due to severe pain and weakness in my legs.

In November 2024, at the end of an event, I was prayed for in a restaurant. All pain went and I am walking again.

A free weekend

#26317

Our godson spent a year in Birmingham with a Christian organisation. While there the team visited a church where a conference for young people due to take place in London was advertised. He thought he would like to go, but would not be able to afford it. Then, the speaker announced a free ticket to the first person who stood up. He was up like a shot and got the free ticket. He booked a hostel pod online for two nights for £24.

That was all the money he had. He prayed that God would provide his food and anything else he needed. His time in Birmingham came to an end as the conference was due to start. When he arrived in London he came across people giving away sandwiches to taste at the station. They were big ones and he took two. He arrived at the pod and needed dinner. He had no money to buy anything.

What to do? He prayed and a man came in announcing a free burger and chips for anyone who answered a survey. So his dinner was provided. He returned from the evening session at the conference to find someone sleeping in his pod. He went to reception and was told that a new member of staff must have made a mistake. He was given another pod and two complimentary breakfasts. They turned out to be buffets – eat as much as you like. He met up with two friends later in the day and they shared food with him. Once the conference was over he came home to us. God had provided for all his needs.

God of Reconciliation.

#26312

Many years ago God reconciled a newborn baby boy who was abandoned by their loving parents. The parents had no money to pay for the surgical treatment and other medical fees. Their only solution was to abandon him and hope someone will find him and take care of him. This week old baby was found abandoned on the roadside.

God through precise timing brought our team to come across this baby, who we took to hospital and supernaturally paid for his surgical treatment. As the baby was recovering so well, our prayers were for God to reunite the baby to his parents. But where do you start? It's also illegal in this country.

Somehow, God miraculously guided and connected us with people who were able to help us. Within two weeks this baby boy was reunited and back in the loving arms of his parents. We were able to share God's love and grace with the whole family. We found out that the grandmother was a believer and had been praying for her grandson.

After major surgery for suspected ovarian cancer my daughter was given the all clear

#26304

After months of feeling ill and having tests my daughter was told she needed major surgery for suspected ovarian cancer. When she was first diagnosed I prayed that she would be healed and God said very clearly to me: she will be well and she will feel well. I shared this with her and from that moment I was peaceful and believed that she would be well and that she would feel well. On the day of the operation the Lord woke me with the following words clearly spoken in my head: I have appointed an excellent team to repair, restore and resolve. It transpired that the hospital department is a centre of excellence for this type of surgery and the top surgeon was doing the operation. The operation was successful and the surgeon said there were no surprises. I wept tears of relief that she had come through the operation and it had been successful. We waited 3 weeks for the histology results and on the day of the results, that morning when I was reading my Bible in a year for that day the verse of the day at the end was from 2 Kings 20:5: the Lord said I have heard your prayer and I have seen your tears, I will heal you. When she received the histology results later that day she was told by the surgeon that what they found was benign and no further treatment was required. She needed many years of monitoring to recover. She is getting stronger by the day and I believe that the operation resolved the problem and she is being repaired and restored and she will be well and feel well. Thank you Lord Jesus for healing my daughter. I give you all the glory.

#26305

My husband and I are two people who wholeheartedly love Jesus. When we got married it seemed like a fairytale. Months later, we were separated. He had moved out. Initially I thought that he would return home soon and we would work it out. I began to pray, and seek the Lord with a depth that I never had before. Days turned into weeks and weeks turned into months. I was quite devastated by the disappointment and hurt that came with our separation. My husband was determined that he did not want to reunite. We only spoke three times during our separation, and he even filed for divorce. When the divorce papers came, I had to answer back to the court. I wrote the promises of God, including Mark 10:9, on the legal documents that I filed with the court. I continued to pray, and believe, but most of all, I drew closer to the Lord than I had ever been. I plastered my wall with promises from Scripture, and prayed them everyday. I allowed Jesus to become Lord, and not just Savior to me. I had a select few family and friends who were praying and believing with me that my marriage would be restored. It truly seemed impossible. My husband would not speak with me, and the rejection was very painful. One day, months into our separation, he called me. He was determined that I sign the divorce papers. I told him that I could not stop a judge from granting a divorce, but I would never sign the divorce papers. I was going to honor my covenant to him no matter what. The conversation turned to a heated argument. That night, I told a friend that I didn't think this was going to turn around the way I had hoped. It looked more impossible than it had in the last several months. After praying, and crying, I finally went to sleep that night. In the morning I received a phone call from my husband. It was the phone call that reunited us as husband and wife, for good. We have now been married for many years. God restored both of us individually and together as a couple. Our marriage is a testimony of the goodness of God, even when it looks impossible. Never give up hope, and cling to the promises of God!

Miraculous Healing from Severe Scalding

#26300

Our grandson was leaving our house when a flask of boiling water opened as he sat in the car and spilt all over the back of his leg. His parents rushed him to Minor Injuries, then to A&E in another city, where the wound was dressed and he was referred to a Burns Unit for the Monday. At the Burns Unit they assessed the burns at 3% (most of the back of his leg). There was talk of skin grafting, of severe infection and (unspoken) if the infection did not clear, possibly amputation. He was severely traumatised, as were his parents, who blamed themselves. I asked trusted friends to stand with us in prayer for healing, and no skin graft, and healing from the trauma for him and his parents. Over days we saw our good God answer prayer miraculously. Our grandson was extremely anxious about returning to the Burns Unit for further treatments because of the intense pain, although he had to attend as an Outpatient. Within a week he had received peace to attend and even begin physiotherapy. The infection cleared up miraculously and he did not need a skin graft. On Christmas Eve a photo of his injuries was sent to the Consultant, as requested, for assessment and the healing has been amazing, far faster than the Consultant would have expected. Our grandson has no pain, is cleansing and moisturising his leg daily and can walk and run as normal. He shows no sign of trauma and he has been told that in time the new skin will be the same colour as his ordinary skin. The Consultant said that our grandson does not need to see him for two months as he is satisfied with his progress. We were able to enjoy a wonderful Christmas Day with our family, something just shortly before that we would never have imagined. God has been so faithful and we give Him all the glory.
